@ticoguy05 11 days ago (edited) To say that people in 3rd world countries should/can survive with such low pay is why the world is so upside-down. I am from a third-world country and only those living in poverty have these salaries. 184 likes 17 replies

@Robinspeer 9 days ago Those FB moderators having to see that garbage for pennies a day and end up with PTSD. Those people have to endure the worst of humanity. 106 likes 1 reply

@leeris19 1 day ago I am a 3rd year college student specializing in machine learning I never envisioned AI to be used like this... AI should be for making our lives better, like predicting disasters or combatting diseases. I love Machine learning for how beautiful its underlying mathematics is, and I thank you for opening my eyes to this side of it. I appreciate everyone who made this video possible! 11 likes

@fabiodoliveiraribeiro1602 5 days ago All Roman cities were similar. In the central area was the Forum, the Temples of the gods and the market, not far from the Theater, the Gladiator Arena and, of course, the Public Baths. Some of them, like the Baths of Caracalla in Rome, were immense, true cathedrals. The Roman public baths had heated floors, abundant running water and three rooms (Caldarium, Tepidarium and Frigidarium). Below the floor was a hellish labyrinth in which slaves stoked the fires in the boilers, controlled the temperature, and maintained the pipes to ensure a supply of hot and warm water, as well as underfloor heating. When Rome fell and the other Roman cities were sacked by barbarians, almost all of these Thermae were completely destroyed. They were hated by the slaves who worked in the... @Zed1987X 7 days ago This story is close to me. I work as chat moderator for six years. AI tech is in the corner and my salary even decreased. What five years ago payed me 800-900 dollars now pays 300 or less and I work more to maintain the level of work and do everything properly. I saw the worst of humanity on sexual levels. The harsh reality is that the job I do for 6 cents I know somebody does the same in the Philippines for 3 or less. 50 dollars is different value in the US and in low-income 3rd world countries. These companies find legal loopholes to do things still in the legal way but more close to slavery in front of the monitor for 8-12 hours a day. 41 likes 3 replies

@anandsharma7430 8 days ago (edited) The social media cleanup job is exactly the horror shown in A Clockwork Orange. This is now an industry! Good God. 32 likes 1 reply

@americo9999 4 days ago I'm not sure what is worse: moderators cleaning up garbage from social media for pennies, or people committing acts against humanity and posting it on social media for views, and people actually watching it. I cannot understand human behavior. 14 likes 1 reply
